

LET'S TALK ABOUT SEX (AND COVID-19)

Keep Your Distance

Right now your safest sex partner is yourself. Create some exciting "socially distant" memories, solo!

Select Your Partner(s)

If you are going to have sex with a partner, the safest partners are those that are in your small circle of close contacts. Remember: consent is sexy AND required.

Seal Your Lips

Kissing, and all forms of saliva sharing, can easily spread COVID-19. Do not kiss someone who is ill - and don't kiss anyone if you aren't feeling well.

Proceed With Caution

Avoid rimming (oral/anal contact) as COVID-19 has been found in feces and the virus may enter your mouth this way.

Suit Up

Using condoms and dental dams will reduce your chances of coming into contact with the virus, especially during oral sex.

Wash Up

Washing your hands is incredibly important right now. If you have sex with yourself or with a partner(s), be sure to wash up with soap and water before and after.
